Licensee is the contracting party, including his successor in rights, which receives a license for the Standard Software according to the terms and conditions set forth in this agreement.

2.2 Licensor
Licensor is the respective company of the SSI Schäfer-Group which delivers and licenses the Standard Software to the Licensee and therefore is the contracting party of the Licensee.

3 Subject Matter of the Agreement
Subject matter of the agreement is the delivery of the Standard Software in accordance with the product specification and the documentation.

Illustrations in eg the manual, test programmes, product and project descriptions are not guaranteed characteristics. Guaranteed characteristics require our explicit and written confirmation. Provided that no other agreements were made, the Standard Software is delivered in its current version at the time of de-livery.

Upon request we will provide the technical possibilities of use as well as terms and conditions of the programmes (eg with respect to the data base, operating system, hardware and data carrier).

A separate agreement must be concluded for any service relating to the installation, configuration of and introduction to the Standard Software. Updates and/or upgrades of the Standard Software as well as help desk-services (support) require the conclusion of a separate service agreement. These services are not included in this agreement.

4 Extent of the Licenses

4.1 Copyrights / Licenses
The Standard Software is protected by copyright. We grant the non-exclusive, 30 year, non-assignable right to the customer to use the Standard Software for the purposes of his company, locally restricted to the location set forth in the offer and individually restricted to the amount of licenses acquired. The Licensee shall accept a new programme version, unless this leads to unreasonable difficulties in adapting and resetting for the Licensee. The Licensee shall only be entitled to rescission of the agreement or price reduction insofar as and to the extent that the correction of the defect, despite a grace period granted in writing with 3 attempts to clear the faults, has not been successful. 9.2 Defense against Third Party Claims
We will at our own expense avert claims which third parties enforce against the Licensee due to breach of copyrights resulting from our deliveries and services to the extent that such claims are not based on Licensee’s actions. The Licensee has no right to recognize such claims. He authorizes us to assume the conflict (at court or out of court) with the third party on our own. The Licensee undertakes to immediately inform us in writing and in full of any third party’s asserted claims.

9.3 Violation of Property Rights
In the event that a court rules that the Standard Software violates property rights of third parties, we are entitled to make changes at our own expense in order to rectify the violation of property rights or to acquire the respective rights. If these measures do not lead to the intended solution and the violation of property rights are established by a court decision, we will reimburse the Licensee for the fees paid (subject to a deduction for the commercial appreciation) for the loss of License. We are free from this obligation if the property claim demands that the licensed Standard Software be changed by the Licensee, or that its use is carried out under other conditions than the specified terms of use. The Licensee shall have no claims exceeding these terms against us.

10 Transfer of Rights
We are entitled to use the services of a third party, in particular of our associated companies, in order to fulfil our duties under this agreement. We may transfer all and individual rights under this agreement as well as the entire agreement to associated companies; the Licensee herewith approves of this. Without our explicit prior written approval Licensee may not transfer this agreement, assign claims or grant sub-licenses, and the like.

13 Final Provisions
13.1 Applicable Law / Place of Jurisdiction
